Tele-Lecture Presents Oklahoma or Bust—Cry Heard 'Round Three Top Newsmen

Salinger, Minow, Huntley and Brinkley. Brandt, Rusk and Churchill.

Those are the names that will highlight a national telelecture conference slated for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Omaha University.

The program will begin Monday at 7 a.m. in the Eppley Conference Center.

Featured in the opening will be five-minute talks from Pierre

Salinger, White House press secretary, and Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Both will speak from Washington, D. C., via the telelecture lines.

Guest Panelists

OU Professors Paul Borge, Paul Peterson and Robert McGranahan will serve as anchors on a panel entitled the "News Business." Guest panelists will be NBC's Chet Huntley speaking from New York, David Brinkley from Washington and Floyd Kalber from Chicago. Kalber was the chief newscaster for KMTV in Omaha for several years before joining NBC News.

Tuesday's session will consist of a test of programming possibilities via case studies. The first in this series will deal with fine arts and comes direct from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

Using an international telelecture hook-up, Sir Winston Churchill, West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and Secretary of State Dean Rusk will discuss "Prospects for Peace in Today's World."

Other Topics

Other topics in the conference are "The Sciences," "The Presidential Libraries as Sources for Research" and "The Peace Corps."

A "surprise" telelecture and discussions on media sharing and use of the Bell Telephone System are slated for Wednesday.

Dr. Michel Beilis, chairman of the telelecture committee and director of conferences at OU, will give background and goals of the conference.

A prime purpose is to test a "share-the-professor" program to be initiated next semester at OU. This will consist of an exchange of courses with other universities across the nation through the telelecture system.

Oklahoma or Bust—Cry Heard 'Round The Ouampi; 500 May Migrate to Bowl

Seven buses are being reserved for the University-sponsored migration to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, next Friday for the All-Sports Bowl.

Dean Donald Pflasterer, who headed a similar trip to the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida, in 1954, said he expects some 400 to 500 students, faculty members and chaperones to make the trek.

Here are some particulars on the migration: the University is offering a "package deal" for the 500-mile trip. For $24.00 students will get transportation round-trip, a room at the Sheraton Oklahoma in Oklahoma City

Friday night, a ticket to the football game and complete insurance coverage.

Buses will leave from the field house parking lot at 8 a.m. Friday and return immediately after the game. The "package" does not include food.

Starting today the tickets may be obtained in the Student Center, and the deadline for reservations is Wednesday, Dec. 5.

No Classes Dismissed

Dean Pflasterer pointed out that no classes will be dismissed for the migration, but those taking the buses will be excused and permitted to make up the work.

The Dean also encouraged students to make the trip any other way possible if they cannot go on the buses.

OU has reserved 500 tickets for the game, and those not taking a bus can obtain them for $2.50 each from Harvey Vogler, the Athletic Business Manager, in the Field House.

The team will leave by bus Thursday morning, stop for a workout in Topeka, Kansas, and arrive in Oklahoma City late Thursday night.

The game will be played at 2 p.m. Saturday in 12,000-seat Taft Stadium, and Omaha U. has been guaranteed 35% of the net receipts or $2,500, whichever is the largest.

Coaches Spot

On Thanksgiving Day, OU coaches Al Caniglia, Don Watchorn and Ken Fischer, and Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin spotted our rival in the Oklahoma City All-Sports Association-sponsored event.

They went down to get a line on East Central Oklahoma State College of Ada, but they were upset, 24-19, by Delta State of Mississippi.

Coach Caniglia reported that the Oklahoma outfit was playing without a regular halfback and lineman who will be ready for OU. He also said, "We'll have to play as well as we did against Pittsburg State to beat this club." He added that the Oklahomans are a "big team with good speed, a real outstanding football team."

East Central, coached by Elvin George, runs out of the split "T" formation and boasts starting halfbacks with 9.7 and 9.8 times for the 100 yard dash.

A point in the Indians' favor is that the Ada club is not reputed as a passing team. Pass defense has been the OU sore spot most of the season. They will have to run against the Indian main strength, their beefy line; or alter their attack.

East Central Opponent

East Central was picked as OU's opponent before the final game with Delta State. Up to that point, they had suffered just one defeat in ten games. That one being to the nation's number one small college team, Central Oklahoma State, 40-20.

They will carry a 9-2 mark and Oklahoma Collegiate Athletic Association title into the postseason contest, compared to OU's 7-1 record and a Central Intercollegiate Conference Championship.

The Indian gridders returned to practice after the Thanksgiving vacation and are expected to be in top condition for the game.

The only doubtful starter is guard Duane Salak, who missed the Pittsburg game with a knee injury.

Gateway Does It Again for UCS

For the fourth consecutive year the GATEWAY is the winner of the Omaha Advertising Club award for publicity by a college newspaper.

The award is presented to the newspaper that does the best job of covering the United Community Services campaign.

The award was presented to Editor-in-Chief Arlo Grafton at the Advertising Club luncheon Tuesday at the Paxton Hotel.

The GATEWAY this year, as in past years, used the Ugliest Man, Cutest Fan contest as the main publicity. These articles were written by Reporter Tom Utts, who also handled the same stories last year to help win the award.

Two features on the Christ Child Center, a branch of the United Community Chest, also helped. These features were written by Mary Beth Meyers, managing editor of the GATEWAY and an employee of the Christ Child Center.

Arlo Grafton and Mary Beth Meyers display UCS award.

Liberal? . . . So What?

It's no secret a right-handed letter writing campaign was underway to pressure the administration at Omaha University and the Board of Regents to keep Dr. Thomas Bonner from returning to the faculty.

In commendable fashion, the Regents reinstated Dr. Bonner in spite of the pressure.

During the heat of the political campaign, candidates sometimes get a bit too enthused with the battle. This is no attempt to justify the antics of campaigning.

Running as a "liberal," Dr. Bonner was soundly defeated.

To some factions, liberal is a dirty word.

Some of the letter writers suggested that a liberal would twist the minds of college students, who everyone knows are assisted only by conservative taxpayers.

A school with only liberals or only conservatives doing the teaching isn't worth its share of burned text books.

A teacher's purpose, obviously, is to teach. To inform. To stimulate thinking.

There are liberals and conservatives in every American walk of life. And there are liberals and conservatives teaching at Omaha University.

Saying that a person should not be allowed to teach because he is either a liberal or a conservative is ridiculous. And assuming that a student's mind is going to be twisted by every teacher is even more ridiculous. Some teachers would probably be happy if they could just put a dent in a student's mind.

School Open Snow or Not

If you have been thinking of the great time you'll have the first time it snows hard and school is dismissed forget it!

According to Donald Pflasterer, dean of student personnel, "the amount of snow that falls is not the determining factor in dismissing school."

What constitutes the dismissal of school is whether or not the parking lots can be cleaned before school starts, he said. OU often holds classes when the high schools are dismissed, he added.

School is dismissed by a president's proclamation. It is released to the radio and television stations in enough time to notify students with early classes.

All students interested in playing in the concert band should sign up with their counselor during the pre-counseling period next week. Woodwinds are urgently needed along with percussion and a few brass instruments. Contact Mr. Malik in the music building, if possible before the spring semester.

Tom Bonner Reinstated Unanimously

During a closed session, the Board of Regents voted unanimously to reinstate Dr. Thomas Bonner to the Omaha University faculty.

Reporters were barred from the meeting Nov. 19 while the Regents, President Milo Bail and Dean of Administration Kirk Naylor discussed Dr. Bonner's being reinstated.

After 45 minutes of waiting outside room 159 in the Applied Arts building, newsmen were allowed to enter the meeting.

The Regents did not publicly discuss Dr. Bonner's reinstatement, but Dr. Bail handed reporters a statement which read:

"RESOLVED, that Dr. Bonner is to be reinstated as of this date to continue a special assignment in research and writing for the remainder of the semester, at which time his assignment will be reviewed as is the case with all other faculty members."

The resolution was adopted unanimously, Dr. Bail said.

Dr. Bail said no policy had been established in the event any other OU faculty members should wish to seek political office in the future.

"That was discussed at the meeting," he said. There was no elaboration.

Two ROTC Sgts. To Be Promoted

Technical Sergeant Robert M. Hasaka and Staff Sergeant Billie G. Brown of the AFROTC department will be wearing one more stripe on their sleeves after tomorrow, when their promotions become effective.

Sergeant Hasaka, who will be promoted to Master Sergeant, has been chief clerk for the AFROTC department here at the University for two years.

Sergeant Brown is the NCO in charge of supply and will be promoted to Technical Sergeant. Sergeant Brown has been in the AFROTC department at the University for three years.

Headquarters AFROTC announced the promotions last Wednesday.

Sergeant Hasaka was one of the 38 men promoted out of the 528 men who were recommended in Air University for that rank.

The winners of this year's talent show were from left to right Johnny Gomez, Sheri Zagor, Willie Wakefield and Dan McGlynn. The show sponsored by the student council was put on last Friday in the auditorium. There were 15 acts. The judges for the contest were Eddy Haddad, Jane MacIver and Jerry Ness.

Science and Math Teachers To Participate in Institute

The National Science Foundation has awarded the University of Omaha a grant of $67,900. The grant is to be used to establish a summer institute for secondary school science and mathematics teachers.

The summer institute is designed for teachers in the high schools and junior high schools who have deficiencies in science and mathematics. The institute begins classes June 10 and lasts to August 3, 1963.

The institute's objectives are to bring up-to-date teachers who have been out of college a number of years and to give teachers qualified in one area additional work in another area they are required to teach.

Participants must fill certain requirements before they can attend the institute.

They must have a bachelor's degree, teach in a private or public junior or senior high school, and must have the ability to profit from such a program. The participants travel allowance and tuition are paid. They also receive $75 per week for their support.

Each participant is expected to enroll in two courses. One being a basic science or mathematics course in which he is deficient. The other being a special seminar with lecturers from five different areas of science and mathematics.

The biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics departments are sponsoring the summer institute. Dr. Merle E. Brooks, PhD, Associate Professor of Biology is the director of the institute. Four science and mathematics department heads who have acted as an advisory committee to Dr. Brooks are: James Earl, PhD, Professor of Mathematics; Karl H. D. Busch, PhD, Professor of Biology; John McMillan, M.S., Associate Professor of Physics and D. N. Marquardt, PhD, Professor of Chemistry.

No Such Thing As an Official Double Cut

"At Omaha University there is no such thing as an official double cut," according to Donald Pflasterer, dean of student personnel.

Although the administration doesn't recognize any such thing as a double cut, the individual teachers may use this system, he said.

There is no certain number of cuts allowed before the student is called to the student personnel office. The student who cuts classes often is likely to be reported by his teacher and if the cuts are too frequent a student can be suspended, he said.

The administration has a moral obligation to the student who paid his money to go to classes. It is not only an obligation but a right of the administration—that is what students often understand, he said.

At some universities there is a system in which a student is allowed to cut a certain number of classes.

He stressed, however, that at Omaha U. there are no class cuts allowed.

Meters Installed During Vacation

New parking meters were installed in the last two rows of Lot J west of the Applied Arts building during Thanksgiving vacation.

All reserved parking stalls have been removed from the AA lot to Lot P behind the new wing.

The new meters increase the number of metered spaces on campus to 1,035 and reduce the number of free parking spaces to 413.

Lack of funds halted the purchase of the meters when the lot was paved last summer.

There are still four free lots: Lot G on the south side of the Field House, Lot H south of the AA lot, Lot R north of the AA lot and Lot F south of the women's PE hut.

The San Blas Indians of Panama rival some of the most puritanical of Victorians. Parents are so anxious to shelter their children from the facts of life that expectant dogs are kept out of sight.

Sayers, Meyers, Blazevich, Miloni Lead Final Statistics

Here are the final statistics for the 1962 Omaha University football season.

Rocket Roger Sayers came flying through in the latter part of the season after suffering several injuries to lead the rushers with a 9.1 yards per carry average. He picked up 345 yards on 38 carries. Sayers also led the punt returners with a 29.5 average.

Carl Meyers also led two departments, passing and total offense. He hit 46 of 101 passes for 973 yards and 13 touchdowns. Meyers picked up 993 yards total offense and a 110.3 per game average.

Anthropology Classes See Priceless Eskimo Collection

Sociology instructor Albino Garbin and Bootstrapper Delbert Rice look over a collection of Eskimo artifacts valued at several thousand dollars. Mr.

Rice borrowed the collection from a friend who collected it while stationed on St. Lawrence Island, off Alaska.

The collection, most of which is over 2,000 years old, proved invaluable to Mr. Garbin's Cultural Anthropology students, who are currently studying the Eskimo and his culture.

Angels to Solicit Toys for Needy

Angels Flight will sponsor their annual toy collection this year Dec. 3-9.

Barrels have been placed in the corridors of all the buildings on campus for the toys. All students are asked to cooperate and bring as many used toys as possible. Any help in this project will be appreciated.

Saturday morning members of the Marine Corps will pick up the toys and rejuvenate them. These will be distributed to needy children for Christmas.

The Flight had planned a dance for Dec. 8, but cancelled it because of the All-Sports Bowl Game.

Celebration in Order; It's Been a Long Wait

By Mike Moran

The field was dark and the press box was empty, but if you had been there you might have heard voices.

Omaha U had just won themselves a conference championship and a bowl bid.

Most of the players and coaches had departed to celebrate and rest their aches and pains.

But there were voices, and now and then, you might have thought you could see figures on the field.

Yes, that was a cheer you heard from the stands and by golly, there go the north goal posts.

Those aren't pranksters tearing down those posts and those aren't a few spirited alums making all the noise in the seats. Those are ghosts . . .

Ghosts? What do you mean? Well step down here and take a look for yourself.

Those look like players to me, buster, are you nuts? Besides, who would come out here at night and dress up like football players to play a game?

Hey, those guys have OU uniforms on. Wonder if Caniglia is having a late scrimmage to keep the guys from getting stale?

Well, now that I get closer, I see some names on their helmets. Let's see . . . Englehardt, Rotella, Baker, Radik, Rigatuso . . . what is this, a junior varsity game?

No man, this isn't a junior varsity game, and you aren't seeing a late scrimmage, those are ghosts. They're celebrating too. You see it's been a long time for them.

Don't you remember, they were undefeated and went to the Tangerine Bowl in 1955.

Sure, I remember but those guys couldn't beat this bunch, why we'd run 'em into the ground . . .

Okay, buddy, follow me and we'll go back about eight years and see just what these guys could do.

Hey, who's the guy on the bench with funny hat? That's coach Lloyd Cardwell and there are his assistants, Tom Brock and Ernie Gorr.

Doane Blasted

Man that crowd is going wild! Let's see, what's the score? I guess we'll have to wait until that kid hangs the card on the scoreboard first. Oh, there it is, 57-2!

57-2! What is this? Let's see that program. Hmmm, Omaha University versus Doane College.

So we beat Doane. Big deal! We would have beaten them 90-0 I'll bet. Look, there goes that crowd for the goal posts and there's Dr. Bail trying to say something over the microphone.

What's everybody throwing Tangerines at the cheerleaders for?

The above may be a little corny but just for kicks let's take a look at that 1955 bunch and just what they did.

The 1955 Indians were a collection of tough service vets an! big Omaha boys who had played some tough high school ball in the days of the adage, win the game or win the fight afterwards!

They had a mighty offense led by three time Little All-American Billy Englehardt who played ball at Omaha North, and Kansas University before enrolling at OU.

Englehardt led the nation in offense for two years and set an all time NCAA career record of over 5700 yard total of offense. This was an average of over 1400 yards per year.

This year's leader, Carl Meyers, wound up with over 950 yards total offense, and most fans call him versatile.

Rushing power that year was supplied by Englehardt with 584 yards and by former Baltimore Colt Emil Radik with 518.

1962 finds more depth with Louie Miloni at 686, Lee Milner at 365, Wayne Backes at 349 and Roger Sayers at 345.

Passing was all Englehardt with 903 yards. Meyers had 783 in 1962. Meyers passed for 14 TDs while Billy passed for 11.

Pass receiving honors went to two time Little All-American Rudy Rotella with 32 catches for 462 yards and five TDs. Little All-American Paul Blazevich is this year's leader with 26 receptions good for 420 yards and 8 TDs. Last year Paul caught 30 passes for 385 yards and five scores.

Scoring was Englehardt with 80 points and Radik with 60. 1962 finds Miloni with 56, Meyers with 50, Blazevich with 48 and Sayers with 42 points.

Single Wing Attack

OU's powerful single wing offense rolled over Fort Hays St., 27-19; over Morningside, 45-0, for the first OU win in history at Sioux City; over Washburn, 27-6; Bradley took their only loss of the year as OU rolled over the Braves, 39-0. Emporia St. fell, 38-6. OU won their first game in history from St. Ambrose, 34-14. Northern Illinois was conquered, 26-7, a feat the 1962 Indians would have dearly loved to match. Wayne State of Detroit was the next victim, 59-7, and OU solidified their Tangerine Bowl position with that 57-2 shellacking of Doane. Doane scored when Englehardt fell in the end zone while laughing.

The frosting on the cake came on New Year's night when the Indians journeyed to Orlando, Fla., and edged Eastern Kentucky, 7-6 on Radik's kick. Yah, man, that team was good, no doubt about it. They averaged over 36 points a game while holding their opponents to 6.

The greatest team in OU history? Well, perhaps, but what a game it would be against the 1962 bunch.

It's been eight long years, but those records are still there and probably will be there eight years from now.

So now its Oklahoma City on December eighth. Two winters ago at this time, many wondered whether Omaha U would field a team the following fall.

Quite a comeback for OU football, most would say. It would be great to repeat that 1955 bowl win and the hundreds of Omaha U boosters in the stands next weekend will agree.

Emporia Wins Elmwood Meet

Ireland Sloan led Emporia State of Kansas to its fourth team championship in the seventh annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Cross-Country meet held at Elmwood Park November 24th.

Sloan, Emporia's first individual winner, bettered Joe Thomas' record of 20:39 set in 1960 by the Southern Illinois athlete. Sloan ran the four-mile course in 20:22.7 that was helped along by a 4:51.7 last mile.

Jim Keefe of Central Connecticut State set the early pace but could not match Sloan's closing performance. Keefe was the defending champion and ran the distance in 20:40.

Sloan's team also had the third place finisher in John Camien in 20:46 and seventh place Richard Woelk in 21:19.

Out of the 99 athletes starting the race 98 finished.

Second place team finish was taken by Fort Hays of Kansas, who held their score down to 95 points to Emporia's 50.

Seven Indians Are On All-CIC Team

Omaha University football players completely dominated the Central Intercollegiate Conference All-Star team.

Four Indians were on the first offensive team, and three others made the first defensive team.

Little All-America candidate, Paul Blazevich nailed down one offensive end spot. He led all conference receivers.

Senior guard Duane Salak was a repeat selection, as was half-back Louie Miloni. Junior quarterback Carl Meyers unseated Pittsburg State's Phil Vogren as the All-Conference signal caller.

On defense, end Jack Kissoon, guard Jack Petersen, and linebacker George Jesko were named. Kissoon and Jesko are seniors, while Petersen has another year.

Jim Kettle was chosen as an end on both the offensive and defensive second teams.

Other Omahans picked to the second teams were: Jesko, Neil Galloway and Wayne Backes on offense; and the Kadow twins, Kevin and Brian, Backes and George Payne on defense.

Intramural Wrestling will be held on December 11. Weigh-in at 9-12 in the Athletic Training Room. Preliminary matches begin at 1 p.m. Finals are scheduled for December 14 in the Field House.

Cage Season Opens Tonight; Things Have Gotta Get Better

By Bob O'Neal

The Omaha U Indians—basketball types—start their season today at Simpson College.

The football champions of the Central Intercollegiate Conference (CIC) are the doormats of the same league when it comes to basketball. Not once in the past CIC cage champion list, dating back to 1928, does the name Omaha U come up.

To find a winning season, you have to go back to 1954-55, when cage coach Virg Yelkin headed a 15-10 season. In three seasons as head man of the courts our present Athletic Director had two winning teams—that is, they won more than they lost.

But winning teams at Omaha have been few and far between.

None of the teams, with one exception, have had what one could call an outstanding season since basketball started at the U in 1910. The one exception was the 1931-32 squad of Ted Hartman, who played 20 games without losing.

Since 1955, the basketball picture has been dim, dismal and defeated most of the time. In 1958, Jack Cotton's cagers could win only two games. The following year, under Sonny Means, they grabbed four wins and the year after, they slipped back to three.

Last year's team, the first year for Coach Jim Borsheim, was a 5-14 season.

We can get worse, the record speaks for itself: 45 years of basketball, 16 coaches, 325 wins and 425 losses.

But Indian tom toms say this is the year. In the same beat they mention that freshman and transfers hold the key to OU success.

Whatever the key, basketball deserves it. The Indians have been squaws long enough—it's time for a new front line. Baseball does it—football has done it.

Basketball anyone?

Big and Little of Pittsburg Game

By BOB O'NEAL

Big things happened the last game of the season. The Indians won the championship, everybody played a whale of a ball game, the goal posts were tough but they came down and everybody got a day off for being lucky enough to have such a team.

Here are some tongue-in-cheek (some of them) reflections of a day that will be long remembered:

Biggest hero: President Bail or Dean Pflasterer—whoever gave us the day off.

Greatest opposition: The goal posts.

Greatest contribution to Omaha football: Tie between the Quasimodo ringers of
